IN

Located in Praça do Comércio, a place with a matchless historical personality and charm, the Pestana Group opens the Pousada de Lisboa - Terreiro do Paço. Lisbon was born in the Castelo de São Jorge, but it was from this square that the city expanded. After the 1755 earthquake, the Marquis of Pombal designed and rebuilt the entire city, introducing new structures and new architectural forms that remain to the present day.

In a town square marked by its history as a port of auspicious departures and arrivals, this new Pousada redefines the former Ministry of Internal Affairs, a witness to great decisions. Past memories are recovered with heritage and enriched with a new dimension, offering a differentiated touristic product, the Pousada de Lisboa - Terreiro do Paço.

The sedan chairs that you will find in the living room, for instance, are original sixteenth century refurbished pieces. The whole restoration and decoration project was designed by the famous architect Jaime Morais, who used the austerity of the sculptures created by the immensely talented Leopoldo de Almeida in order to create a contrast with the lavishness of the paintings and other decorative pieces.

IN

The elegant and stylish rooms sport a classic and timeless beauty. Some overlook Terreiro do Paço, while others offer a view of several streets and rooftops in Downtown Lisbon. The bright colors and the urban chic palette explain why this is the only hotel in the Iberian Peninsula that boasts of a partnership with Dom Pérignon.

LISBOETA

— THE PORTUGUESE CAPITAL OF FOOD —

With contrasting environments on the terrace and on the inside, you will absolutely love the suggestions and innovations of super-chef Tiago Bonito, elected Chef of the Year in 2011, and whose experience in 5-star hotels make him want to go one step beyond and present new ideas.

Here you can savor true Portuguese signature cuisine, with a special care for raw ingredients and the regional origin of the products used in these creations. At night, a slightly more classical aura does not affect service informality and ease.

OUT

The Pousada de Lisboa - Praça do Comércio is located close to Belém, near the city's main monuments and cultural attractions, such as the Padrão dos Descobrimentos (Monument to the Discoveries), the Jerónimos Monastery, the Congress Centre and the Belém Cultural Center (CCB).

The view of the Tagus River is enough to make anyone become passionate about this city born at the waterfront. But Lisbon's history, its present and future offer much more to see. With its yearlong blue sky, a mild winter and very beautiful beaches, Lisbon is at the top of all lists of Europe's most interesting cities.

TO DO

THE CHARM OF THE CHIADO

Frequented by artists and intellectuals - the Faculty of Fine Arts lies here - , the Chiado was the preferred spot of the poet Fernando Pessoa. Visitors should not miss taking a coffee (uma bica) on the esplanade of A Brasileira, where the poet has been immortalized by a statue. From the Rua do Carmo to the Praça Camões, the streets are full of bookstores, coffee bars, restaurants, museums, theatres and boutiques. Close to this quarter is the Bairro Alto.

With this heterogeneity of visitors and so much to discover, the Chiado presents itself as Lisbon's true heart. Take the chance to travel in the typical 28 tramway from the Graça to the Campo de Ourique parishes, crossing the Praça Camões, and completing a trip full of history through the city's main points of interest, like the Feira da Ladra, the São Jorge Castle, the Cathedral, the Baixa Pombalina, the Basílica da Estrela and Fernando Pessoa House.

FROM THE AVENIDA TO THE TERREIRO DO PAÇO

Reserve an afternoon to walk around the long Avenida da Liberdade and take in the glamour of the boutiques and the fresh terraces. Continue until the Praça de Rossio (the square with the imposing National Theatre) and enter the downtown streets, where you will find many stores and much animation, ending at the Terreiro do Paço, close to the Tagus River.

TYPICAL QUARTERS

Alfama is the right place to sense the nostalgia of the fado. It is also the oldest district that resisted to the large earthquake of 1755.

Bairro Alto is one of the most famous quarters in the Portuguese capital, being like a stage for one to see the Bohemian lifestyle and the nightlife, characterized by its atmosphere and the fusion of its picturesque streets and taverns and the fashion of its bars and stores of the major alternative brands.

You should also visit the Bairro da Bica, which is one of the most authentic districts in town, and for this reason, one of the most crowded during the festivities dedicated to the popular saints.

TO SEE

Among lifts and sightseeing points, there is a varied choice in the City of the Seven Hills. There are many and different views in this city. Lisbon is blessed by a unique light offered on luminous days, sunsets of all colors and an ever-charming nighttime glow. Should you be searching for another perspective, we suggest a visit to the Cristo-Rei Sanctuary, on the south bank of the Tagus River, from where you can enjoy what is undoubtedly one of the best panoramic views.

The Parque das Nações is the most modern part of the town. It was constructed with superb architecture for the World Fair of 1998. The Expo 98 area, as it is known, gathers innumerable attractions, ranging from an exhibition centre to the largest pavilion for shows in Portugal, an area with bars, a modern shopping mall and the Oceanário de Lisboa, the second largest aquarium in the world.

OUT

TO EAT

Lisbon, as the capital town of the country, presents a gastronomic offer full of variety, from regional dishes to haute cuisine both national and international.

Visitors will find endless different venues and atmospheres: irresistible bakeries and the outdoor cafés where the inhabitants of Lisbon enjoy their typical coffee called “bica”, the traditional “tascas” (small taverns) for snacks such as codfish puffs accompanied with a glass of wine or a beer, or the premises where, after an intense night, visitors may find comfort for their souls with a “caldo verde” (green cabbage soup) and bread with artisanal chouriço sausage.

Codfish and the Portuguese-style stew are the national dishes, which elaboration varies slightly from one region to the other, but that are always present on the menu card.

OUT

TO EAT

In a nation always linked to the sea, other Lisbon specialities include seafood and fresh fishes. During the summer, especially during the festivities honoring the Patron Saints (city festivals honoring “Saint Anthony of Lisbon”), the smell of the grilled sardines spreads over Lisbon’s neighborhoods, that it even became an icon to the city, present in innumerable souvenirs.

The Ginjinha do Rossio is a must for every visitor and the custard pies are the most famous of Portuguese sweets. Although many bakeries and cafes have their own recipe, the original one is a secret of the Fábrica de Pastéis of Belém, where the custard tarts are eaten still warm and powdered with sugar and cinnamon.
